Are You Ready for an FDA Inspection?

If FDA inspectors want to take pictures of your facility during an inspection, should you let them? If FDA takes samples of your products, what should you do? Which employees should be speaking to FDA Inspectors? What records must you make available?

These are just some of the issues that were addressed during the ASTA/FEMA Web Seminar “How to Prepare for an FDA Inspection” covering preparedness for U.S. and overseas FDA inspections. A recording of the entire session including the question and answer session is available if you were unable to attend the live session.
